Brief History of the Barangay

Barangay Zamora is a certain of then conflict of the municipalities of Diffun and Aglipay. It was once a part of Barangay Gundaway then of the municipality of Diffun way back the year 1950.

In 1966, Mayor Jose B. Aquino of Aglipay, an Aeronautic Engineer, obtained a Cadastral Map from the Bureau of Lands in Bayombong, Nueva Vizcaya from which he discovered that the southern part of Diffun, that includes Barangay Gundaway, belongs to Aglipay. During that time, Dr. Luis Bergado, the Municipal Mayor of Diffun, was in conflict with incumbent barangay captain Florencio M. Valdez, Sr. of Barangay Gundaway who accused him of playing favoritism in favor of the Barangay Kagawads of the latter.

The Municipal Council of Aglipay claimed those portion but was opposed by the Municipal Council of Diffun. Some dialogues were conducted by both councils to resolve the claims which later on resulted into an agreement to hire the services of a private surveyor to determine the exact boundaries of the said political subdivision with respect to the technical description of the Cadastral Map at hand. Survey results that postion of Barangay Gundaway actually belongs to Aglipay, thus its division.

On June 16, 1966, at the height of the hostility between Barangay Captain Valdez and Mayor Bergado, Mayor Aquino visited his new found land wherein warmly welcomed by the people. In a meeting held he promised to construct an Elementary School and a Municipal Sub-office thereon. This inspired them to sought for the creation of a new barangay apart from Gundaway under the administration of the Municipality of Aglipay, Mayor Aquino headed to their proposal and not long thereafter christened the new regular barangay named ZAMORA, in honor of the late Fr. Jacinto Zamora, one of the three (3) martyr priests executed by the Spanish friars.
